The Commissioner wants to know what you think about raising the precept

	Jason Ablewhite, the Police and Crime Commissioner, wants to know what you think.
	One of his jobs is to ask how much you are willing to pay towards police funding in 2018/19
	Part of your council tax that pays for the police
	The Commissioner wants to raise it to pay for more police officers

There are three options for you to choose from.

Option 1

For an £12 more a year, we can have 55 more police officers.

This is what we want to do

Option 2

For an extra £4 a year, we can keep the same number of police officers.

Option 3

If there is no increase, we could lose 23 police officers, or have to cut costs somewhere else

We want to know which of these options you agree with

This will help the Commissioner know what the public want him to do
